calculated y vs the distance to measured p